

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

XXXIII. CONGRESS....First Session.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Wednesday, June 26.

Mr. FOOTE introduced a resolution calling upon the President for all orders, correspondence, &c. in relation to, or connection with, the appointment of Col. MONROE, as Civil and Military Governor of New-Mexico, and the Proclamation issued by him, for the organization of a State Government in New-Mexico which lies over.

The omnibus bill was taken up at 1 o'clock, when Mr. DOUGLAS replied to that portion of Mr. BOULE's recent speech relating to the Public Lands of California.

Mr. WRESTER next took the floor, whose further consideration of the subject was postponed until to-morrow.

Mr. CLAY moved that the order fixing the hour of meeting of the Senate at 11 o'clock, be renewed—Remarking upon the delay attending action upon the pending Bill, he referred to the fact that the French Chamber, in ten days, voted upon and passed a bill affecting the great interest of the Electoral Franchise, while the Senate had sat two months on one bill, with no prospect of coming to a conclusion.

Mr. HALE thought the French Chamber would have done well to have spent even three times the labor upon the subject referred to, than had been spent by the Senate upon the question pending here, before they decided to pass that infamous measure taking from one-half the people of France the elective franchise. He contended, also, that none of the delay complained of would have occurred, except for the extraordinary effort made to coerce Senators to the support of objectionable measures, in combining them with others not objectionable.

After a reply by Mr. CLAY, and some additional debate, the motion was agreed to. The Senate, after an Executive session, then adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Bain's Electro-Chemical Telegraph.

Mr. STANTON (Loco) of Tenn. asked leave to introduce a resolution calling on the President, if not incompatible with the public interest, to communicate to the House all orders or instructions issued by any of the Departments of this Government to any military or other officers in New-Mexico, and likewise the dispatches received therefrom; also, to communicate information which may have been received by him relative to the call of a Convention of the people of New-Mexico, for the purpose of forming a State Constitution; and that he be allowed to move, if such a call has been made, the same has been ordered, advised, or approved by the Executive, and by whom or what authority such proceedings have been adopted, to change the Government of said Territory.

Mr. OTIS (Whig) of Maine, objected, and the resolution was not introduced.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the Report of the Iowa Contested Election Case.

On motion of Mr. VAN DYKE (Whig) of N. J. Mr. D. F. Miller, who contests the seat of William Thompson, was allowed the privilege of addressing the House on the subject.

The Report, covering twenty pages, closely printed, was then read by the Clerk.

Measures STRONG of Penn. and McDONALD of Iowa, (both Loco) argued in favor of Mr. Thompson's claim to the seat.

Mr. THOMPSON (Whig) of Ky., espoused the cause of Mr. Miller.

Without coming to any conclusion, the House adjourned.

LABOR MOVEMENTS.

THE INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL—Met in the House of Call of the Operative Bakers' Union, last night, K. ARTHUR BAILEY, in the Chair, and H. J. CRATE Recording Secretary. The minutes of the last meeting were read. Delegates from the Lithographic Society were received. Reports were called for, when Mr. H. J. KEYSER presented the Constitution and rules of order as prepared by the Committee, which was read by Meares, Keyser and Day. The report was received, and it was moved and carried that the Congress resolve itself into Committee of the Whole, Gild C. DEANE in the Chair. On motion, the rules of order were first taken up and read, each section separately discussed and adopted, without amendment. Every thing was fully discussed. The question of debating an appeal from the Chair caused no little debate. It was finally carried that an appeal could be made without debate.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three. Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution to a Committee of three.

Another motion was made to lay over the Preamble to the next meeting, and carried. Moved that the Constitution be taken up, which was carried.

Mr. DOWNEY of the Constitutional Committee stated that the Laborers, Bricklayers and Plasterers, and Stone Masons, were about to form a central organization to cooperate with the Industrial Congress on measures affecting the interests of both bodies.

On motion the preamble was then read and thoroughly discussed. Some repetitions were detected by a member of the Constitutional Committee, and the Committee of the Whole were discharged from the consideration of the Preamble and Constitution until certain facts were laid before the Congress. On the dissolution of the Committee, the rules of Order were finally adopted.

A disitory debate followed in relation to the action of a member of the Constitutional Committee. The Congress resolved, after much debate, not to hear any explanations from the members of the Committee. A motion was also lost to refer the matter of a Constitution